ABOUT SEMINAR

Our planet, Earth is much like a home but we never care to look after it like our homes. We utilize its resources, we pollute it with waste or trash, and we never thought that what things will be like in the coming days or future, never thinking what shape things will be in for our children. Millions tons of waste is produced in the world every day. It a high time to think about our environment and what can we do to make our environment free from pollution.

Sustainable development and conservation of our natural wealth is the need of present time, Otherwise our next generation will be deprived of this treasure. Man has the fundamental right of getting a quality environment, but at the same time he is also responsible for protecting the environment for present and future generations. To mitigate and adapt to climate change to tackle other environment threats, we have to pursue the policy of green economy and green chemistry. Keeping these aspects in consideration, the faculty of science is going to organize a National seminar on 19th October, 2015 entitled " Environmental Protection for Green & Clean India".
